

VETERANS CLOSE THEIR REUNION

Next Annual Gathering of Grand Camp Will Be in Roanoke.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Pulaski, Va., September 27.—Having selected Roanoke as the place for its next reunion, the Grand Camp of Virginia Confederate Veterans joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," led by the Women's Confederate Choir, and then adjourned, having been in session since Wednesday. The camp had little to consider this morning in closing the business, and only a brief session was held, adjourning at 12:30. A resolution was adopted fixing June 3, the birthday anniversary of the Confederacy, as the memorial day to be observed by the Confederate veterans throughout the State.

A report from the State Auditor showed his roll contained the names of sixty-nine Confederate women eligible for State aid under the relief bill, the total number to whom $15 each can be given annually. A committee was appointed to go before the next General Assembly asking an additional appropriation for this fund. The committee is composed of S. W. Williams, J. T. Stratton, D. Brown, T. L. Tate and R. B. Davis.

The camp passed elaborate resolutions with reference to its treatment while in Pulaski, and the officers report it to have been one of the best meetings in every detail held in the twenty-five years' history of the Grand Camp. To-night the Pulaski County Sons of Veterans entertained the visitors at a german, which closed the festivities of the encampment. Many of the veterans returned to their homes to-day.

Angel resigned suddenly from the force last August, and shortly after-

NIGHT SCHOOLS OPEN TUESDAY

Efforts Made to Secure Attendance of Children Leaving Day Schools.

Night schools operated in connection with the Richmond Public Schools will open on Tuesday, October 1, with the prospect of a large enrollment.

At the John Marshall Night School the following subjects will be offered: Bookkeeping, penmanship, phonography and typewriting, cooking, sewing, millinery, sixth grade work, seventh grade work, high school branches.

It is understood that classes will be organized at the high school in other subjects, provided there is sufficient demand. The School Board desires, if possible, eventually to have a night high school which will graduate pupils in high school subjects just as in the day school.

A number of circulars have been sent to the students, who attended the night schools last year, and to children who have not returned to the elementary schools for the day session. Every effort is being made to give the pupils such courses as the night school as they may desire.

Last year was the first session of the John Marshall Night School. The total enrollment for the session was 728. The white elementary night schools had an enrollment last year of 469, distributed as follows: Nicholson, 54; Jefferson, 166; Stonewall Jackson, 90; Powhatan, 153.

BUSY DAY IN COURT

From 9 o'clock yesterday morning until after 5 o'clock in the afternoon Justice Crutchfield was busy holding evidence in several unusually long cases. During the middle of the day he took a recess of twenty minutes for luncheon.

This was the first time in many months that Police Court was in session until late in the afternoon. While there were not a great many cases to be disposed of, those which were called brought forth a host of witnesses whose testimony and argument by counsel consumed a great deal of time.

Goddin, Confederate soldier and mission worker, who died yesterday morning in the Sheltering Arms Hospital, will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock from Richardson's chapel, Belvidere and Main Streets. Remarkable Christmas Present

Among the curious Christmas presents of this year will be one for a man of national reputation, which has been a book of the present.

At the head of each item is the name and date of paper clipped from, this information having been put in with a book of the present.

In actual time, a very strict record of which has been kept, the work has required a steady, untiring effort.

Throughout the year, and has kept in employment during that time thirty people, as readers, clippers, sorters, mounters and binders. Every newspaper of importance is represented.

This is merely a specimen of some of the unique orders which get into the Burdette Bureau, for the extent to which clippings are used by individuals and by business concerns seems to be remarkable.

There are many people in private as well as in public life who need press clippings and don't know it. It might be well for them to look up this man Burdette, who is said to be so well known that a letter simply addressed "Burdette, N. Y." will reach him with no delay.

Of all the words I ever heard that one is a puzzle to me.

I know you can spell c-a-t.

And other simple little words like that; But spell Trans-mag-ni-fi-can-dam-u-al-i-ty.

Probably that word isn't in the New Websterian 1912 Dictionary, illustrated, or any other dictionary, but the song shows that spelling is a popular pastime for all.

The wonderful dictionary distribution which is being conducted through The Times-Dispatch has resulted in reviving the jolly and instructive old "spelling bee."

The compact, neatly bound, large typed and yet comprehensive lexicon now obtainable at a nominal cost by everybody is just the ideal book on which to base a spelling bee.
